Assessment Format:	CW - Essay
Mode of Submission:	Canvas: Assignment with Submission Where your assessment requires you to submit work to Canvas or an External Tool, it is not recommended to submit via the Canvas App due to some limitations in the App functionality. We would suggest instead that submission is made on a browser from a computer or mobile device. It is not recommended that you submit your assignment or take a quiz on a cellular or satellite connection. This is because loss of internet connection during assessment is most commonly associated with these services, although we understand that sometimes this is the only option. Wherever possible, we would recommend that assessments are submitted or undertaken on WiFi or hardwired (ethernet) connections. Large files are best submitted on a hardwired internet connection (i.e., not WiFi).

Assessment Task Detail and Instructions:

You will be provided with an article. The article will be uploaded to the Modules area, in the folder called 'Additional assessment resources including posters for assessment'. Your task is to critique the article in light of the theory we cover.

Your work must be structured in the following way:

- Cover page
- Contents page, with headings and page number for each section and sub-section of the work
- Introduction, setting out parameters of the work, what you have decided to analyse, justifications for your choices, and your approach (approximately 150 words)
- Critical discussion, cited using academic references, which critiques the article. You may wish to break this discussion down using sub-sections for greater clarity but do NOT have more than four and you may have fewer (approximately 1,200 words)
- Conclusion, giving a concise summary of your arguments and concluding thoughts (approximately 150 words)
- References, using the Harvard format as per the ARU library website. It is very strongly suggested that you use ONLY references on the reading list in the modules area of this Canvas site (not in the word count)

Use 1.5 line spacing with left justifying and font size 11 or 12, preferably font either Arial or Calibri.

Your work must be submitted as a word document, no other format is acceptable.
